

Since qualifying as a physiotherapist from the University of Northumbria, Lynn has worked with a variety of clinical specialties across acute and community-based settings. Her early specialism was neurology before moving out into the community as a clinical lead, developing the immediate care service, integrating community-based rehabilitation and fast response to support older people in a large rural community.

Lynn is an older person's Fellow and Master's graduate in Advanced Clinical Practice. She is currently working clinically with primary care, developing new roles across agencies to facilitate joined up, proactive, responsive care for older people. Lynn is passionate about the importance of developing the knowledge and skill within the workforce to support quality services for older people.
